ALDRICH'S REPORT.

CENSURING THE COMMISSIONERS.

He Sustains Treasurer Gilfillan's Charges, and Pours in Some Hot Shot on His Own Account - But His Colleagues Disclaim the Document.

A document, said to be the long-delayed report of the subcommittee charged with the investigation of Treasurer Gilfillan's complaint against the District Commissioners, was given to the press yesterday, but as members of the District Committee disclaim that the so-called report represioners to deliver the remainder of the tax-lien certificates to the sinking-fund office. Alluding to the "Emery and Cooke" assessments, the report remarks that it would not seem possible for any refinement of legal sophistry to bring them within the operation of the acts authorizing revision. As to the opinions of the attorney for the Commissioners, the report, after quoting several which conflict, says: "It is evident that opinions so contradictory and erratic afford no safe guide for executive action, and that they furnish no defense to the Commissioners for disregarding the plain requirements of law." THE LINTHICUM ESTATE ASSESSMENTS.

The Water street contract came under the head of "extensions of contracts," the cost of these extensions in various parts of the city amounting to stands, it appears that the only assessment which was annulled on this ground was one affecting the estate of which one of the Commissioners is a trustee and two members of his family the beneficiaries. The assessments against the estate were reduced by the Commissioners from $2,324.82 twenty-five cents in The Republican. to $290.82, or eighty-seven and a half per ring of the stockholders of the National Brick | cent. After narrating the proceedings taken by Mr. Robert Christy, as attorney for the Linthicum estate and others, to procure relief from the courts and Congress, the report continues by saying that, although the attorney for the complainants had admitted that the decision of the court would be against him, and although Congress had refused to grant any relief, the Commissioners of the District, the defendants in the suit, accepted a tender of one-eighth of the sum due as a compromise of the case. The report also shows that the facts regarding the Water street contract were just the reverse of the facts given in the testi-

It also appears that no other officer of the District government than over, or checks off the certificates, and that neither the collector of the District nor the collector of special taxes, by both of whom they are receivable, has any record of the number or amount of the drawback certificates issued.

THE CHARGES SUSTAINED. The report sums up the conclusions of the committee as follows: "The charges, in the opinion of the committee, are sustained. The evidence requires your committee to report, as their conclusion, that the charges of the Treasurer of the United States against the Commissioners of the District of Columbia have been fully proved, the evidence in most instances reaching far beyond the allegation; that the revision of assessments has been conducted in a loose and irresponsible manner, without proper supervision by the Commissioners; that sions, deprived the District of large amounts of revenue justly due to it; that they have improperly discriminated in favor of the delinquent tax-payer, to the detriment of the self in the head yesterday afternoon while haninterests of the District and of the conscientions tax-payer; that they have disobeyed the requirements of the law, and have set up evasive pretexts for that disobedience, and that, on the plea of construing the acts of Congress as measures of relief, they have perverted them from their true intent in order to relieve propertyholders from taxes and penalties lawfully due; in all of which various acts and omissions they have been guilty of grave dereliction of duty, deserving of censure. While not disposed to relieve the members of the Board of Commissioners from their just share of responsibility for their acts, your committee feel bound to record their opinion that ineffithe present form of government of the District. A PLUGAL EXECUTIVE is fatal to efficiency and responsibility. History abounds in examples of the failures of forms of government in which executive power is vested in several hands, by whatever name they may be known. A government of this kind rarely becomes efficient, except when some master spirit usurps supreme control. Ordinarily, responsibility is not merely divided-it is completely lost-a truth of which this investigation has given abundant evidence. When the responsibility for all acts is distributed among several, a keen sense of it is felt by none. Your committee also regard the requirement of the act of June 11, 1878, that the ment, as an unnecessary and unwise restricamount appropriated for the expenses of the Dis-States, and their selection should be subject only to the same restrictions as that of other officers of the United States. Besides, a large proportion of the tax-payers of the District, although thoroughly identified with its interests, have chosen to retain right of suffrage by becoming legal residents of the committee therefore recommend that the present Board of Commissioners be abolished, and that their powers and duties be conferred upon a single Commissioner, to be appointed without regard to residence in the District, and to whom the Eugineer and other officers of the District should be THE REPORT NOT OFFICIAL.

WAITING FOR A VERDICT. The Jury in the Johnson Case Locked Up

All Night.

The case of John Silas Marshall Johnson, indicted for the murder of James E. Johnson in March last, that has occupied thirty-two days of the present term of the Criminal Court, was given to the jury yesterday afternoon. When the court reconvened yesterday morning the chamber was packed with a mass of people anxious to witness the final proceedings in the case. It is noticeable that a large majority of the spectators were colored, and, in fact, throughout the trial the colored people have manifested more interest in the proceedings and the result than the whites. District-Attorney Corkhill resumed his summing up of the case immediately after the court opened, and closed at quarter past twelve o'clock, having made a very complete argument. After the usual recess a number of additional prayers were submitted by the defendant's coun-

His honor then proceeded to deliver his charge, and eccupied one hour and thirty-five minutes in so doing. Considerable time was used up in deciding what prayers had been acted upon and what rejected, settling exceptions, &c., and finally the jury got the case at 3:45 o'clock, and Judge James returned to the City Hall at eight o'clock last night to learn whether the jury had agreed upon a verdict, but a deputy marshal sent up to the jury room returned an answer that there was no prospect of a decision being made, and the jury was accordingly locked up for the night.

Ned Fitzpatrick was born in the County Galway, reland, and came to this country when a child, James Lee, formerly a well-known down-town politician, and for upward of twenty years he was emarkable for his skill and good judgment in boating matters and his passionate love of all kinds of aquatic sports. He was referee in countless races. B C Book, 32 pages, amusing and useful reading, sent and twenty years ago distinguished himself by sailing a race around Bedloe's Island in an open boat, without a rudder, and carrying forty-seven yards of canvas. He was backer of the Ward brothers in various contests in this country and Canada. He was an intimate friend of Colonel Billy Wilson, Andy Foy, and other old-time residents, and held the offices of clerk and deputy clerk of Washington Market and deputy tax commissioner at various periods before 1870. At the time of his death, which was caused by congestion of the lungs, Mr. Fitzpatrick held the position of mail cierk to the House of Representatives.-Sunday (New York)

Clerks in the Departments at Washington, like other men and women, have a pretty hard task to perform without very large compensation in very many cases. They are expected to be at their posts every day in the week at regular hours from the beginning to the end of the year They must make no mistakes, nor neglect even the smallest detail in their work. Faithfully, diligently, and honestly do they discharge their duties to the people whom they serve, and at the end of the year many of them have not one dollar left, and feel as if they could hardly fight the battle through to the end of another year. True, a by Miss Magili were very happy, although she ap- few of them receive a salary that enables them to save a dollar for a rainy day. But in the majority of cases the pay of clerks is not enough, and Congress should provide more liberally for them .-Colonel N. W. Fitzgerald in World and Citizea-Soldier.

> He Speaks His Mind. To the Editor of The Republican

For the last ten days I have been traveling through the counties of the First Congrescalled Bourbon Republican leaders, who are trying to sell out the Republican party in the coming contest, they have so far failed in their axe-grinding, for it is a known fact to all true Republicans that for the last six years a certain set of political adven-terers have used the Republican vote of Virginia for their own personal purposes. Now, sir, allow me to say, and I think I know whereof I speak, that the colored people, and all honest white Re-publicans, know that Mahone and party are in favor of educating their children, giving the right of franchise to every citizen, and having our votes united after being east, again the right to the ry-box regardless of race or political opinion. pury-box regardless of race or political opinion. Did the colored people ever get their rights from the Bourbon Democratic party? I think not. Then why do a few so-called Republicans of Virginia want to place a candidate in the field in order to elect the Bourbon candidate, for such will be the case? I will tell you: The Federal patronage of Virginia, as it now stands, is controlled by a certain party, and they are determined to hold fast, and the only way to do so is to keep the State Domocratic; for if do so is to keep the State Domocratic; for it irginia is ever redeemed it will be by a coalition on Friday evening, February 25, presenting the romantic legendary melodrama entitled, "Alonzo, the Brave, and the Fair imagene," and the laughaask for is for Mahone to extend to them what he promises, and we know he will, and in a short while Virginia will wheel in line with her Repub-lican sister States. You can count on all true Reblicans in the con sublicans in the coming issues to follow such enders as Brady and ex-Senator Lewis, for they are tried and true. REPUBLICAN READJUSTER.
